

✓ Congratulations! You passed!

Next Item

1. Identify the motivations for analytic functions among the following choices.

1 / 1
point

2. Analytic function processing occurs

1 / 1
point

3. Identify the TRUE statements about the syntax of analytic function usage in the SELECT statement.

0 / 1
point

4. The SQL DENSE_RANK function

1 / 1
point

5. Identify the true statements about the PARTITION BY keywords inside the OVER clause of an analytic function specification.

1 / 1
point

6. The window specification, RANGE BETWEEN 30 PRECEDING and 30 FOLLOWING differs from the window specification, RANGE BETWEEN INTERVAL '1' MONTH PRECEDING and '1' MONTH FOLLOWING

1 / 1
point

7. When using the RANGE keyword to specify a logical window, the INTERVAL keyword must be used to specify logical windows for day intervals.

1 / 1
point

8. The SQL RATIO_TO_REPORT function

1 / 1
point

9. When using the RANGE keyword to specify a logical window, some logically centered windows may not be physically centered on rows.

1 / 1
point

10. To retrieve top performers using a cumulative distribution function, the SELECT statement should have

1 / 1
point

